

AUTHOR GUIDELINES

AIMS AND SCOPE

The International Social Science Journal bridges social science communities across disciplines and continents with a view to sharing information and debate with the widest possible audience. The ISSJ has a particular focus on interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary work that pushes the boundaries of current approaches, and welcomes both applied and theoretical research. Originally founded by UNESCO in 1949, ISSJ has since grown into a forum for innovative review, reflection and discussion informed by recent and ongoing international, social science research. It provides a home for work that asks questions in new ways and/or employs original methods to classic problems and whose insights have implications across the disciplines and beyond the academy.

The journal publishes regular editions featuring rigorous, peer-reviewed research articles that reflect its international and heterodox scope. ISSJ also publishes special issues devoted to specific themes that the Editorial Office typically commissions from an external Editorial Adviser who acts as curator and guest editor. The journal may release a call for papers for these special issues.

PREPARING THE SUBMISSION

Parts of the Manuscript

The manuscript should be submitted in separate files: title page; main text file; figures.

Title Page

The title page should contain:

1. A short informative title containing the major key words. The title should not contain abbreviations;
2. A short running title of less than 40 characters;
3. The full names of the authors;
4. The author's institutional affiliations where the work was conducted, with a footnote for the author's present address if different from where the work was conducted;
5. Conflict of Interest statement;
6. A short biographical note of less than 75 words including all author names, institutional affiliations and e-mail addresses, main research interests and (optionally) most recent and/or forthcoming publication with date only. This will be published in a box with a fixed limit (560 signs and spaces) on the first page of the article;
7. Acknowledgments.

Authorship

Please refer to the journal's Authorship policy in the Editorial Policies and Ethical Considerations section below for details on author listing eligibility.

Acknowledgments

Contributions from anyone who does not meet the criteria for authorship should be listed, with permission from the contributor, in an Acknowledgments section. Financial and material support should also be mentioned. Thanks to anonymous reviewers are not appropriate.

Conflict of Interest Statement

Authors will be asked to provide a conflict of interest statement during the submission process. For details on what to include in this section, see the Conflict of Interest section in the Editorial Policies and Ethical Considerations section below. Submitting authors should ensure they liaise with all co-authors to confirm agreement with the final statement.

Main Text File

As papers are double-blind peer reviewed, the main text file should not include any information that might identify the authors. The main text file should be presented in the following order:

1. Title, abstract, and key words;
2. Main text;
3. References;
4. Tables (each table complete with title and footnotes);
5. Figure legends;
6. Appendices (if relevant).

Figures and supporting information should be supplied as separate files.

Abstract

Enter an abstract of up to 200 words for all articles, giving a concise statement of the intention, results and conclusions of the paper. An abstract is a concise summary of the whole paper, not just the conclusions, and is understandable without reference to the rest of the paper. It should contain no citation to other published work. Abstracts are published together at the front of each issue, rather than as part of each individual article.

Keywords

Please provide five to six keywords (see Wiley's best practice SEO tips).

Main Text

The language of the journal is English. Articles should be submitted in English using British rather than American spelling. 12-point type in one of the standard fonts: Times, Helvetica, or Courier is preferred. Please double-line space your manuscript. Tables must be on separate pages after the reference list, and not be incorporated into the main text. Figures should be uploaded as separate figure files.

Notes

Notes should be kept to a minimum. When used, they should be consecutively numbered using superscripts placed at the appropriate point in the text. Notes should be endnotes rather than footnotes.

References

The journal uses the Harvard version of the author–date system for bibliographical references where the author and year of publication appear in the text and the full reference appears in a 'References' section at the end of the article. Please ensure all quotations are correctly referenced in the text and entered in the References.

(a) In-text citations: should follow the form (Armstrong 1985), (Li 1996, p.521), Li (1996, p.521). Where several references are cited together in the text they should be separated by semi-colons. Where there are three or more authors for a work the first name should be used, followed by et al.

(b) References section: all material relating to references contained in the text should be placed in a separate References section after the Notes. Authors should appear in alphabetical order. Where more than one article by an author appears these should be placed in chronological order and the name/s repeated and not replaced by a long dash (–). Entries should follow the following form.

LI, T.M., 1996. Images of community: Discourse and strategy in property relations. Development and Change, 27(3), 501-27.

HOY, D.C., 1986. Power, repression, progress: Foucault, Lukes and the Frankfurt School. In: D.C. Hoy, ed., Foucault: A Critical Reader. Oxford: Basil Blackwell, 123-48.

ARMSTRONG, J., 1985. Long-Range Forecasting: From Crystal Ball to Computer. Toronto: Wiley.

MERCER, P.A. AND SMITH, G., 1993. Private Viewdata in the UK. 2nd ed. London: Longman.

Tables

Tables should be self-contained and complement, not duplicate, information contained in the text. They should be supplied as editable files, not pasted as images. Legends should be concise but comprehensive – the table, legend, and footnotes must be understandable without reference to the text. All abbreviations must be defined in footnotes. Footnote symbols: †, ‡, §, ¶, should be used (in that order) and *, ,  should be reserved for P-values. Statistical measures such as SD or SEM should be identified in the headings.

Figure Legends

Legends should be concise but comprehensive – the figure and its legend must be understandable without reference to the text. Include definitions of any symbols used and define/explain all abbreviations and units of measurement.

Figures

Although authors are encouraged to send the highest-quality figures possible, for peer-review purposes, a wide variety of formats, sizes, and resolutions are accepted. Click here for the basic figure requirements for figures submitted with manuscripts for initial peer review, as well as the more detailed post-acceptance figure requirements.

Figures submitted in colour may be reproduced in colour online free of charge.

Please note, however, that it is preferable that line figures (e.g. graphs and charts) are supplied in black and white so that they are legible if printed by a reader in black and white. The cost of printing colour illustrations in the journal will be charged to the author. The cost is £150 for the first figure and £50 for each figure thereafter. If colour illustrations are supplied electronically in either TIFF or EPS format, they may be used in the PDF of the article at no cost to the author, even if this illustration was printed in black and white in the journal. The PDF will appear on the Wiley Online Library site.

Additional Files

Appendices

Appendices will be published after the references. For submission they should be supplied as separate files but referred to in the text.

Supporting Information

Supporting information is information that is not essential to the article, but provides greater depth and background. It is hosted online and appears without editing or typesetting. It may include tables, figures, videos, datasets, etc.

Click here for Wiley's FAQs on supporting information.

Note: if data, scripts, or other artefacts used to generate the analyses presented in the paper are available via a publicly available data repository, authors should include a reference to the location of the material within their paper.

General Style Points

The following points provide general advice on formatting and style.

- Written style should be in line with the profile of the journal, meaning that articles should be appealing and accessible to those not specialised in their particular subjects. Excessive technicality, jargon and methodological protocol are to be avoided in favour of direct, clear language. The exposition should be as clear as possible, avoiding colloquialisms and explaining any local circumstances, terms or concepts which might not be widely familiar.
- Abbreviations: In general, terms should not be abbreviated unless they are used repeatedly and the abbreviation is helpful to the reader. Initially, use the word in full, followed by the abbreviation in parentheses. Thereafter use the abbreviation only.
- Quotations: Quotations should be as few as possible and should not exceed one paragraph in length. "Keynote" quotations are not accepted. Quotations should be in the same language as the main text of the article.
- Units of measurement: Measurements should be given in SI or SI-derived units. Visit the Bureau International des Poids et Mesures (BIPM) website for more information about SI units.
- Numbers: Numbers under 10 are spelled out, except for: measurements with a unit (8mmol/l); age (6 weeks old), or lists with other numbers (11 dogs, 9 cats, 4 gerbils). If the submission uses the term 'billion' in the text or tables, please make it clear to the reader whether this is meant as 'thousand million' (US usage) or 'million million' (UK usage). Both are accepted, but the meaning must be clear.
- Emphasis: Avoid excessive use of emphasis and where used it should be expressed by italics (rather than bold or underlining).
